What does an Intern Pharmacist do?

Interns are integral to the success of our pharmacies and many have been the driving force behind pioneering new areas of practice. From a professional practice perspective our interns hit the ground running with Australia's most extensive pharmacy immunisation service, with many interns (in eligible states) vaccinating patients from the very start of the season. This is just the beginning, with our interns able to provide comprehensive medication management and be proficient in pharmacy systems by the time they register.

We see the intern year as the start of an advancing career pathway, whether that be in clinical primary care pharmacy, pharmacy management or ownership.
